

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of manufacturing an integrated circuit (IC) utilizes a strained silicon (SMOS) substrate. The substrate utilizes trenches in a 5 base layer to induce stress in a layer. The substrate can include silicon. The trenches define pillars on a back side of a bulk substrate or base layer of a semiconductor-on-insulator (SOI) wafer.